US sending 100 observers to monitor RP polls

By MIC. Zambrano Jr.

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — The United States will send 100 observers to monitor the May 14 Philippine presidential and congressional elections, a move that would be the largest since the 1986 election.

The move, announced by the State Department, is part of a broader effort to ensure the integrity of the Philippine electoral process. The observers will be deployed to various parts of the country, including Manila and the provinces, to monitor the voting process and the counting of ballots.

The observers will be led by a team of experts from the U.S. Election Assistance Commission. They will be accompanied by a team of Philippine officials, including members of the Commission on Elections (COMELEC).

The move is seen as a sign of U.S. support for the Philippine democratic process. It also reflects the growing importance of the Philippines in the region and the U.S. interest in ensuring a fair and free election.

3 rebels killed, 1 mangled in clash

By G. Zambrano

MANILA (AP) — Three rebels were killed and one was mangled in a clash between government forces and the New People's Army (NPA) in a remote area of Mindanao, officials said.

The clash took place in a mountainous region of the province of Davao. Government forces, including soldiers and police, were engaged in a battle with a group of NPA rebels. The rebels were reportedly armed with rifles and other weapons.

The government forces claimed to have killed three rebels and mangled one. The rebels, however, claimed that they had killed several government soldiers and wounded others. The clash is part of a larger conflict between the NPA and the Philippine government.

The NPA is a communist-led rebel group that has been active in the Philippines since the 1960s. It has been responsible for numerous attacks on government forces and civilians. The Philippine government has been fighting the NPA for decades, with varying degrees of success.

The clash in Mindanao is one of the latest in a series of conflicts between the NPA and the government. It highlights the ongoing nature of the conflict and the need for a comprehensive peace agreement.

The 2010 American College of Rheumatology (ACR) guideline for the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis (RA) recommends the use of disease-modifying antirheumatic drugs (DMARDs) to achieve remission or low disease activity. The guideline also recommends the use of biologics in patients who have not responded to conventional DMARDs. The guideline is based on a systematic review of the literature and a meta-analysis of clinical trials. The guideline is intended to help clinicians make decisions about the treatment of RA. The guideline is based on the following evidence:

As the English concept of the corporation has been widely transplanted, governments have introduced their own variations. Swedish Enterprise, for example, is a public corporation, subject to government supervision and control. It is financed by the Swedish Government and provides a wide range of services to the public.

the 1990s, the number of people in the United States who are obese has increased by 50 percent. In 1990, 15 percent of the population was obese; in 2000, 25 percent was obese. In 2008, the prevalence of obesity in the United States was 33.9 percent, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Obesity is a leading cause of heart disease, diabetes, and other chronic diseases. It is also a leading cause of death. In 2008, obesity was the leading cause of death in the United States, accounting for 10.5 percent of all deaths. Obesity is also a leading cause of disability. In 2008, obesity was the leading cause of disability in the United States, accounting for 10.5 percent of all disabilities. Obesity is a complex problem that requires a multifaceted approach to address it. This includes changes in diet, exercise, and lifestyle. It also requires changes in the environment, such as increasing the availability of healthy food and increasing the availability of safe places for exercise. Obesity is a public health crisis that must be addressed if we are to improve the health of the United States.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The 2008 election cycle is in full swing, and the spending on political campaigns is expected to reach record levels. This year, more than ever before, candidates are turning to the polls to gauge public opinion and to raise money for their campaigns.

Spending on campaigns
 The 2008 election cycle is expected to be the most expensive in U.S. history. Candidates are spending more on advertising, travel, and other campaign activities than in previous years. This is due to a combination of factors, including the increased use of television advertising and the growing importance of the Internet in campaign strategy.

'Save the tarsier' gets boost

By Chito A. Francisco
PDI Visayas Bureau

PANGLAO, Bohol—Efforts to protect the endangered Philippine tarsier received a big boost recently with the signing of a memorandum of agreement between First Generation Holdings Corp. and the Philippine Tarsier Foundation Inc.

The MDA was signed at the Bohol Beach Club in this town on Friday, coinciding with the observance of "Save the Tarsier Month."

Signatories were Rev. Fr. Florencio Camacho, PTFI president, and former Tourism Secretary Peter Garrucho Jr., First Gen vice chair and chief executive officer.

Under the terms of the MDA, First Gen, the country's third largest independent power producer, has committed to support the research on the "Molecular phylogeography of Philippine Tarsiers: Implications for Biodiversity Assessment and Conservation" to be conducted by Dr. Irene Meri-Aboleda.

First Gen has also committed funding for community organizations and activities in line with the tarsier conservation program's thrust of involving the community in its overall conservation effort.

The MDA also commits First Gen to fund the cost of improvements in PTFI's existing visitor facilities and trails and other infrastructure to promote eco-tourism in Bohol.

In his message during the brief program prior to the MDA signing, Garrucho said First Gen was proud to support the PTFI.

"Our commitment will start with an initial grant of P200,000," Garrucho said.

"This will be followed by subsequent grants for community organization and eco-tourism components which would bring our total support to about P2 million," he added.

Selected by the PTFI as the site for the Philippine tarsier conservation program is a public domain of approximately 167 hectares between the towns of Corella and Sitatuan, about 12 km from Tagbilaran.

US tells Sharon: Don't harm Arafat

AMSTERDAM
The US State Department has warned Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu that the United States will not support any plan to harm Yasser Arafat, the leader of the Palestinian Liberation Organization (PLO).

US officials said the warning was part of a broader effort to ensure that the peace process remains on track. They emphasized that the US is committed to a two-state solution and that any actions that threaten the lives of Arafat or other key figures would be seen as a major setback.

The warning came in the wake of reports that Israeli security forces had been considering a plan to arrest Arafat in a surprise move. US officials stressed that such an action would be highly provocative and could lead to a breakdown in the peace negotiations.

Netanyahu, in response, has insisted that his government's actions are aimed at ensuring the security of the state and that it is committed to the peace process. He has also expressed a willingness to engage in dialogue with the PLO.

The US State Department's position is seen as a significant factor in the ongoing negotiations. It is hoped that the warning will help to defuse tensions and allow the peace process to move forward.

The US has long been a key ally of Israel, but it has also been a vocal supporter of the Palestinian cause. This balancing act is a central part of its Middle East policy.

The warning is part of a series of diplomatic moves by the US to influence the Israeli-Palestinian conflict. It is seen as a clear message that the US will not tolerate any actions that threaten the peace process.

Tonyboy group eyes IPO for media unit

By [Name] Staff Writer

MANILA, Sept. 10 (PNA) — The Tonyboy Group, a leading media and entertainment conglomerate, is eyeing an initial public offering (IPO) for its media unit, according to sources familiar with the company's plans.

The group, which has a long history in the Philippine media industry, has been actively exploring various options to raise capital for its expansion. The IPO is expected to be a significant milestone for the company, as it would allow it to tap into the public market and potentially increase its valuation.

The media unit of the Tonyboy Group has been a key driver of its growth, with a strong presence in television, radio, and digital media. The group's media unit has been instrumental in the development of several successful television networks and radio stations, as well as the launch of various digital media platforms.

The IPO is expected to be completed within the next few months, pending regulatory approval. The group's management is confident that the IPO will be a successful outcome of their efforts to raise capital and expand their media unit.

S&M group considers unit to manage China investments

By Michael S. Miller

The S&M group is considering the creation of a new unit to manage its investments in China, according to sources familiar with the company's plans. The unit would be responsible for overseeing the group's growing portfolio of Chinese investments, which includes a range of industries from technology to manufacturing. The move is seen as a strategic response to the increasing complexity of managing investments in the Chinese market, particularly in light of recent regulatory changes and geopolitical tensions. The new unit would likely report directly to the company's top management, ensuring that the group's investments in China remain a top priority.

Talpa plans to take on a bank stake

Talpa is planning to take on a significant stake in a bank, according to reports. The move is part of the company's broader strategy to diversify its investment portfolio and expand its influence in the financial sector. Talpa's investment in the bank is expected to provide it with a new source of revenue and potentially open up new opportunities for growth. The company's management has expressed confidence in the bank's long-term prospects and believes that this investment will be a key driver of its future success.

Buying out of the bank

The bank is considering a buyout, which would allow it to exit its current position and potentially realize a significant return on its investment. The buyout would involve the bank selling its stake in the company to an external party, likely a private equity firm or a strategic investor. This move would provide the bank with a clear exit strategy and could be a key component of its overall financial strategy. The bank's management is currently evaluating the various options available to them and expects to make a final decision in the near future.

Background and aims

The major goals of the study were to determine whether the use of a computer-based system for data collection and analysis could improve the accuracy and reliability of data collection and analysis in a field study. The study was conducted in a field setting, and the results showed that the use of the computer-based system improved the accuracy and reliability of data collection and analysis.

'Euro-pino'...

BY JIMMY KATZ

PHOTOGRAPHY APRIL 11, 1993

When it comes to the Euro-pino, the most popular of the new wave of European music, the answer is simple: It's the sound of the future. The Euro-pino is a blend of the best of European and American music, creating a sound that is both familiar and new. It's the sound of the future, and it's here now.

'Euro-pino' teen comes of age on stage

By George F. Gorman
(Staff Writer)

At first sight, it's not the world that you see. It's a world of college students, people about 18 years old, all of different backgrounds, all of different languages, all of different cultures. It's a world of people who are not yet 18 years old, who are not yet 18 years old, who are not yet 18 years old. It's a world of people who are not yet 18 years old, who are not yet 18 years old, who are not yet 18 years old.

Happy Heritage Month!

By John M. Lopez

This year, when the month of April comes, we will be celebrating the 100th anniversary of the birth of the Philippine Republic. It is a time to look back at the many achievements of our ancestors and to look forward to the many challenges that lie ahead.
